

3M™ Detection System (Model 3800)

Superior coverage with style and versatility

This versatile system detects 3M™ Tattle-Tape™ Security Strips better than any other library security system on the market today. By offering the largest detection area possible, the system helps ensure that no materials leave the library without being checked out. And because the Model 3800 provides security coverage up to six feet above the floor, it can even detect items concealed in backpacks. It self-calibrates to the library's environment and contains diagnostics that reduce maintenance calls and ensure optimum performance. Designed to fit a variety of floor plans and decors, the unit has a variety of mounting options: direct mount, base plate or buried cable. Optional electronics outputs allow libraries to add other security features, including a 3M™ Voice Alarm. The Model 3800 is completely safe for all magnetic media.
